"America's next generation deserves a voice in every state Capitol, and that is why it is my honor to endorse Dillon Fillion for Iowa State Representative! "I am profoundly grateful for Representative Roberts' strong endorsement," said Fillion. "His fearless advocacy for constitutional rights and Christian values motivates me. With TJ's backing, I'm more determined to champion tax relief, bolster community safety, and protect the liberties of Iowa families."

Roberts, a lifelong resident of Boone County, Kentucky, resides in Burlington. A 2016 graduate of Conner High School, he earned a Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics, and Writing, Rhetoric, and Communication from Transylvania University in 2019, followed by a Juris Doctor from Northern Kentucky University's Salmon P. A Christian and Kentucky Colonel, he serves as Chair of the NKY Young Republicans, is an alumnus of Students for Life, and is a member of the Federalist Society. His advocacy for limited government and individual liberties strengthens his alignment with Fillion's vision for Iowa.

Fillion remains a steadfast advocate for law and order, pledging to support law enforcement, push for tougher penalties for repeat offenders, and oppose policies that undermine community safety. He is committed to protecting Second Amendment rights and ensuring veterans and military families receive the respect and resources they deserve. "Homeownership should be attainable," said Fillion. "I will champion property tax relief and shield Iowans from government overreach."

With Roberts' endorsement, Fillion is intensifying his campaign to bring principled, family-first leadership to Des Moines. His focus remains on economic relief, safer communities, and policies that prioritize Iowa families over political insiders.
